

Keep the alerts End the database

A proposed citizen ordinance for New Braunfels

Police can receive targeted alerts without storing a searchable history of vehicles that do not match a lawful hotlist. DeFlock NBTX is organizing to make that limit enforceable.

What the proposal would do

Keep compliant hit-only readers at approved New Braunfels city entry points and in moving police vehicles.

Prohibit historical non-hit ALPR databases, including searches obtained through vendors or other agencies.

Limit generalized facial and AI surveillance, with a narrow court-authorized facial-recognition exception for a specific investigation.

Name the recipients, limit voluntary interagency sharing to eligible Texas agencies, and publish audits.

Read the draft and help organize

DeFlockNBTX.com

Join the update list or volunteer. Read the ordinance and the City's own policy sources.

Formal petition circulation has not opened. An online signup is not a vote or an official petition signature. This proposal would end some retrospective investigative uses; existing equipment's ability to comply has not been established.

A project of Texas Privacy Coalition

info@texasprivacycoalition.com

(830) 481-1062

Independent community campaign. Not affiliated with the City of New Braunfels or Flock Safety.